

It's nearly here!

UI/UX-in-a-day

Kristine Kolodziejzki

Here's your workshop pack!

📅 Session logistics

The session will be hosted via Microsoft Teams. I chose this platform because most of you joining the call use it on a daily basis and it will likely already be installed on your computer. If not, you can also join via your internet browser, however please note that the browser version of Teams can perform slower and has some limitations.

Here is the link to the session : Teams Link

The session will be fully interactive. You will be able to ask questions throughout, use the chat, reactions, and have fun all along!

*Please note the session will NOT be recorded.

📁 Session pack & setup instructions

Click HERE to download the pack.

The pack is a .zip file - please ensure you unzip it and read the prerequisites & setup instructions guide ahead of the day. If you're anything like me - and you have a terrible memory - don't worry, you'll get a reminder nearer the time with this link!

💖 Safe and inclusive environment

I always take every measure in making my sessions, both in person and online, as inclusive as possible. Please note that profanity and offensive language will not be tolerated.

📷 Camera

Puppies, kittens, babies, snacks and anything else are more than welcome! There is also no obligation for you to have your camera to be switched on - whatever works best for you!

☕ Buy me a coffee

If you'd like to support future sessions and content, you can also buy me a coffee!

See you there 💜
